

Math for Finance Mini-Project Quick (and Important) Information

- Choose 4 questions from the list to answer in depth. At least one question must come from each section. Try to pick the questions that seem the most interesting to you.
- Just because a question has multiple parts does not mean it is harder or would take you more time. Read the questions carefully before choosing which to answer.
- Some of the questions are based on previous questions. In order to answer these, you will need to do the previous questions. Keep this in mind when choosing.
- You must cite your sources. MLA (and whatever other types of citations there are) is not necessary. See the last page of questions for explicit directions and an example.
- Email your answer to me no later than 11:59pm Tuesday, May 28 (reading day).
- We will have review days for your final exam Friday and Monday. Please come prepared to ask questions. I suggest going over old exams and practice exams to study. You may also ask questions on homework and work on the remaining assignments during class those days.
